

Kristin Geiser, Ph.D.

Associate Director, University-Community Engagement

Kristin Geiser joined the Gardner Center in July, 2008. Prior to becoming the Associate Director, University-Community Engagement of the John W Gardner Center, she was the Associate Director of Stanford's Elementary Teacher Education Program (STEP Elementary). Dr. Geiser went to STEP after five years as a faculty member and Director of Advanced Studies in the College of Education at Notre Dame de Namur University. Dr. Geiser's educational leadership experience also includes her role as the Director of Research for the Bay Area Coalition of Equitable Schools, a coach and consultant to community schools, and a performing arts teacher in Los Angeles. She received her Bachelors in Theater, Film, and Television and her Ph.D. in Educational Administration, Curriculum, Teaching Studies, and Policy at UCLA.